NEW RESERVE BOARD'S CHIEF TACKLES TASK

IMPORTANT EVENT OF WORLD WIDE SIGNIFICANCE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1930, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Sept. 22.—The most important event of the week in Washington has passed almost unnoticed. It was the taking hold by Eugene Meyer, Jr. of the federal reserve board policies.

With the business situation in its most delicate stage of recuperation the credit machinery of the nation is easily the most sensitive factor requiring constant vigilance. The marts of finance have been uneasy about credit conditions evidencing their uncertainty by a continued belief that the period of easy money was not to be long lived.

Low Rates Justified.

The most essential thing from the standpoint of the federal reserve board has been to endeavor to impress the banks of the country as well as the investment world that low rates for money were not only justified but would be fully supported by the board.

Early last spring when federal reserve board officials were trying to assure the business world that money would remain easy there was little evidence of any response. Many bankers preferred to keep their surplus funds in the call money market at rates which were below three per cent rather than buy gilt edged bonds.

More Capital Available.

The consequence was that it took several months for the impression to become definite that money would remain easy for a long time to come. This autumn there appears to have been some recognition of this fact because the banks have been heavy purchasers of bonds and the call money market has gone even lower, showing the vast amount of surplus money that has been hesitant and cautious.

The low money rates have at last produced a better market for good bonds and this means that from now on there will be a good deal of refinancing as well as new financing. The distribution of these surplus funds therefore will tend on the one hand to reduce the fixed charges of companies that are paying high interest rates on old obligations and will furnish new capital for a needed expansion for more efficient use of facilities. There are many companies which in the next few years will require new plant equipment in order to operate more efficiently and this will be one of the principal reasons for new financing of industrial companies.

Brings Stability.

A steady hand at the throttle is always needed in a crisis but somehow the psychological factors in the business world are such that a steady hand on the federal reserve board policies is regarded by leaders of commerce as the vital need of the hour. Indeed this is one of the reasons

Republican Party Says Nothing On Prohibition Plank

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22. (AP)—The Republican state chairman, William J. Maier, here for the opening of the party convention Thursday, said tonight the national administration would not aid the party in solving what is generally conceded its hardest problem—prohibition.

There had been reports as the leaders gathered that from sources close to Pesident Hoover had come word a prohibition plank in the platform would be preferable to one for repeal of the dry law.

Maier issued the following statement:

"The president has not attempted in any way to interfere in the proceedings of the state convention."

Later he said the state leaders anticipated no interference from Washington on the wet and dry question.

Tribe of "Yellow Indians" Existed Once, It Is Found

New York, Sept. 22 (AP)—Discovery of a tribe of "yellow Indians" and new clues to the long sought "white Indians" of the South American jungles, were reported today by Dr. Herbert Spencer Dickey, returning from a trek along the dark reaches of the Orinoco river.

Dr. Dickey, representing the Museum of the American Indian, Heye foundation, returned on the liner with his wife and party of eleven.

He said he had penetrated from fifty to a hundred miles nearer the source of the Orinoco than other white men had yet gone. He stumbled upon a tribe called the "Quaharibos," distinguished chiefly for the yellowness of their skin, and they told him, he said, the "white Indians would be found farther west. He plans to return.

Water Claims Lives Of Detroit Man, Son

Detroit, Sept. 22 (AP)—Bodies of Sydney R. Russell, Detroit manufacturer, and his eight-year-old son, Walter, were recovered today from the Detroit river. They disappeared Wednesday while crossing Lake St. Clair.

Neither body had on a life preserver, although three were missing from their catboat which was found floating upside down in the Detroit river a short time after they disappeared.

STROKE FATAL TO FOUNDER OF ARMS COMPANY

FAMED AS INVENTOR OF SPORTSMEN'S EQUIPMENT

Gladstone, Sept. 22 (Special)—Webster L. Marble, prominent Gladstone resident, founder of the Marble Arms and Manufacturing company and inventor of many nationally known articles of equipment for the outdoor sportsmen which bears his name, passed away Monday morning at 9 o'clock at his hunting cabin on Round Lake, 37 miles northeast of this city.

Death followed a stroke of paralysis which he suffered Saturday. Although in declining health for the past three years, he was active up to the time of his fatal illness. Wrapped in the mercifulness of unconsciousness and surrounded by members of his family the end came peacefully. He was in his seventy-seventh year, the last 41 of which were spent in Gladstone.

Won High Place

The world of outdoor sportsmen wore a beaten path to the home of Webster L. Marble's craftmanship in the Michigan north woods. His success as a pioneer in the field of arms and hunting and fishing goods manufacture, as the founder of the Marble Arms and Manufacturing company, brought him to a position of high rank and prominence for more than a quarter of a century.

The son of Lansing Marble, an early timber cruiser, Webster L. Marble was schooled of necessity in the lore of woodsmen and learned through long experience the types of guns, knives and axes he thought were best suited to meet the primitive demands of trappers, hunters and prospectors. He enthusiastically accustomed himself to the hardships of woodsmen and took up his father's occupation, later dealing in timber lands.

Invented Pocket Axe

In cruising and surveying, he grew to dislike the unwieldy axe which hung at his belt. He thereupon designed and made for himself a small pocket axe with a metal guard to fit over the blade—The first safety pocket axe, and Marble's first venture as a manufacturer.

Mr. Marble was born in Milwaukee, Wis., March 20, 1854, and attended grammar school in Vassar, Mich. His father later took up a homestead near Frankfort on the lower shore of Lake Michigan. At the age of 14, back in 1868, he took up the business of timber cruising.

Mr. Marble came to Gladstone in 1889, and continued his cruising work until 1898. His father, Lansing Marble, who came to Gladstone in 1900, made his home with his son until his death, five years later.

It was in 1893 that Mr. Marble made his first safety axe, which paved the way for the establishment of the manufacturing company, bearing his name, whose products are known by hunters, fishermen and trappers all over the world. During the next few years

Since his retirement from business in 1901, he had devoted himself to philanthropic activities. He made extensive donations to health and welfare activities in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York.

He was born in Philadelphia in 1839.

'Margaret Rose' Is Name of Royal Baby

London, Sept. 22. (AP)—All Scotland is rejoicing because of the official announcement that the infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York is to be christened Margaret Rose.

Ever since the youngest member of the royal family was born August 21 the Scotch people had been hoping she would receive some name reminding of her birth in Glamis castle and her mother's Ccottish nationality. Of all such names they chiefly hoped for Margaret, since it is intimately entwined with the whole history of Scotland.

For the first time in Michigan's history a recount of a state-wide vote is being made to determine whether Wilber M. Brucker or Alex J. Groesbeck won the Republican nomination for governor. According to the official canvass Brucker had a plurality of 4,726. Picture shows the recount under way in the auditorium of the Boys' Vocational School at Lansing. Inset is Clarke Brown, in charge of the compiling division of the secretary of state's office.

NYE QUIZZES GROCER CLERK

Broker Bow Man Says He Ran Against Veteran on Own Accord

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 22 (AP)—George W. Norris, of Enid, Okla., but formerly a grocer clerk of Broken Bow, Neb., where he gained public attention by his candidacy for the United States senate in opposition to the veteran Senator George W. Norris, today remained steadfast in his explanation that his entrance in the race was solely of his own volition. He said he had thought that he could force Senator Norris, who supported Alfred E. Smith for president, to run as an independent instead of on the Republican ticket.

Appearing before United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, chairman of the campaign funds investigating committee, at the resumption of the Nebraska inquiry which was precipitated by his filing, Norris the grocer admitted that he believed his entrance in the primary race would force the senator to retire and file as an independent.

"You also say you decided to run because Senator Norris was unpopular? Did you think you could popularize that name?" the committee chairman asked.

"Yes I did," Norris replied.

Clash Repeatedly

As the questioning progressed, Senator Nye and Norris the grocer repeatedly clashed. The committee chairman finally accused Norris of evading his answers, and recessed the hearing at one juncture "to give you a chance to refresh your memory."

Norris admitted he had never been a candidate for political office prior to his filing for the

Believe Alpena Youths Drowned

Alpena, Sept. 22 (AP)—The wrecked sail boat of Carl Nelson, 17, and Emil Goasrud, 17, was found today and is taken a sevidence that the two boys were drowned yesterday in Thunder bay on an excursion to North Point, from which they did not return. The bodies have not been recovered.

The boat was found by Njls Nelson, father of one of the boys, who set out today in search of his son. They had expected to return yesterday afternoon.

A strong southwest wind of gale proportions prevailed yesterday and is believed to have swamped the 13 foot boat. The boat was built and piloted by Goasrud.

Open Investigation of Russia's Activities on Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 22 (AP)—Formal investigation of alleged abuse of wheat hedging facilities by Soviet Russia was opened by the Chicago Board of Trade today and then halted to await specific information from Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde.

The business conduct committee of the board held a brief session following the close of the market—which left some grain prices the lowest in 24 years—and issued a statement indicating it could not proceed until the information it has requested is received. Meanwhile, the statement said, the committee plans a thorough investigation of the transactions alleged by Secretary Hyde.

What effect the impending investigation might have had on the market, if any, was eclipsed by more portentious developments. Russia offered large quantities of wheat aboard at 10 cents lower than similar wheat from North America. North American wheat export business was virtually at a standstill. The United States visible supply of wheat reached 202,620,000 bushels, a total never before equalled. And still another factor to contribute to the general weakness was the report of good rains in Argentina.

Other than the statement of the business conduct committee, Board of Trade officials were reluctant to comment on any of the dispatches, from various parts of the country, relating to the stir caused by the Hyde charges. Among these was an answer to Hyde's latest statement from E. Y. Belitzky, vice president of the All-Russian Textile Syndicate. Belitzky denied the syndicate sold short 10,000,000 bushels of wheat in operations extending over several months, as Hyde had charged, and said the selling took place on three days and totaled 7,765,000 bushels. He said no effort was made to keep secret the hedging operations.

ADVICE TO FARMERS

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP)—The charge of Secretary Hyde that short selling of wheat in the Chicago pit by the Russian government contributed at least in part to the recent decline in prices was reiterated today by Chairman Legge of the farm board.

At the same time, he advised farmers to purchase wheat now at a low price and use it as a

BOWLES PLANS COURT BATTLE

Recount Nears End With Final Result Favoring Murphy

Detroit, Sept. 22 (AP)—A court battle to test the title of Mayor-Elect Frank Murphy appeared imminent tonight as the recount of the special mayoralty election drew to a close without having materially altered the candidate's 12,000-vote plurality.

Late today, as the recount workers came to within less than 75 precincts of completing their check of the city's vote, William H. Hurley, assistant chief of the administration forces watching the recount, said that Mayor Charles Bowles would start suit tomorrow to enjoin Murphy from taking office.

Previously City Clerk Richard W. Reading had announced that the election commission would meet tomorrow to certify Murphy as the successful candidate, thereby paving the way for his immediate assumption of office.

Illegal Election

Hurley said that Mayor Bowles shortly would issue an announcement of his plans to contest Murphy's right to the mayor's office. The grounds would be that the recall election was illegal and that consequently the election of September 9 also was illegal, Hurley said. The suit will be filed in circuit court, he said.

This announcement came within four days of Mayor Bowles' statement that he would abide by the results of the recount and would not contest Murphy's title to the office of mayor.

As the recount neared its conclusion today, observers ex-

PARKER RESORT RAZED BY FIRE

Flames Endanger Three People As Building Burns to Ground

Manistique (Special) — In a blaze which periled the lives of three people, Earl Parker's store and resort, five miles west of this city on highway U. S. 2 was burned to the ground early yesterday morning.

Awakened at 3:15 a. m. by the barking of their German police dog, Mr. and Mrs. Parker found the flames rapidly eating their way into their bedroom. The interior of the building seething in flames offered no chance for escape, exit being made out of a window. In getting out of the window, Miss Rose Mercier, who was employed as a cook, received severe cuts on her left arm and left leg, two stitches being necessary on the arm and four on the leg. She was attended by Dr. George A. Shaw at the Shaw hospital.

Considerable delay was experienced in summoning the local fire department when Mr. Parker, driving into town to inform the department of the blaze, ran out of gas. Telephone connections were burned down. When the fire fighters arrived the entire structure was enveloped in flames.

Using water from the 100 gallon booster tank, fireman concentrated successful efforts on the saving of an adjacent cottage, while the Michaelson cottage is approximately 150 feet east of the store, was badly scorched. The fire department worked on the blaze until a late hour Monday morning.

The fire which started in the front part of the store is believed to have been of incendiary origin. Mr. Parker stated that a party of motorists had knocked on the door a short time prior to the discovery of the fire in an attempt to secure gasoline.

While the loss is partially covered by insurance, a great deal of the stock and equipment was uninsured. The damage is estimated at over $20,000.

BALLOTS WITH MARKS CAUSE FOR ARGUMENT

EX-GOVERNOR GAINS ONLY SLIGHTLY THUS FAR

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 22 (AP)—The state wide primary recount stretched out in three directions today, leading to as many investigations or legal disputes. A favorable decision in any one will give Alex J. Groesbeck the Republican nomination for governor, his attorneys claimed.

Groesbeck, who was defeated by 4,726 votes, according to canvass returns, came here to take personal charge of an appeal to the state supreme court. A petition will be filed, probably Tuesday, charging the state board of canvassers has ruled against 3,000 ballots which would show a gain for Groesbeck.

The petition will contend the board has been in error in its definitions of marked ballots, that it was wrong when it held precincts should not be recounted when the number of actual ballots did not agree with the poll book, and possibly charges of unfairness. Aiding Groesbeck in drafting the petition were O. L. Smith, head of the Groesbeck recount force, and Edward N. Barnard, Detroit attorney.

Charge Irregularities

A federal investigation of alleged irregularities in connection with counting of absent voters ballots has been asked of United States district attorneys in Grand Rapids and Detroit it was reported. It was said George Welsh, active Groesbeck worker, and Groesbeck managers in Wayne county, secured evidence on which they expect to substantiate their charges. It was claimed that in one Newaygo precinct more than 100 absent ballots were cast, and that in the precinct of M. B. M'Pherson, state tax commissioner, in Kent county, there were 70 or more. Groesbeck attorneys contend workers for Wilber M. Brucker circulated the absent voters' ballots. They said

Clerks Leaving In Trainloads to Get Ballots Recounted

Entraining Monday at 1 p. m., clerks from voting precincts in Delta county started out on their journey to Lansing to deliver ballot boxes for the recount on the primary vote for governor. There was an element of uncertainty in the trip, as no one knew just how long they would be gone or when they would be back. Their only information was that they must remain until the votes reposing in their boxes are counted. Three other upper peninsula counties left on the same train with Delta, and a baggage car carried the collection of ballot boxes.

The Delta county group took the Soo train at Gladstone, and the delegation included the following clerks: County Clerk R. H. Labre' Carl E. Anderson, Escanaba; J. R. Buechner, Gladstone; Arthur L. Besaw, Perkins; E. L. Daigneault, R 2, Bark River; Bernhard Mattson, Gladstone; A. T. Rossow, Gladstone; James J. Ray, Cornell; Blanche Teinert, Ensign; Clyde Lancour, R 1, Gladstone; Richard Collins, Fayette; John Terens, R 1, Bark River; Edward Purtill, Garden; Aristide Thibault, Garden; Herman Johnson, Jr., Rock; Lucien E. Scott, Rapid River; Allen T. Mercier, Nahma; Jacob A. Groos, R 1, Gladstone.

Chicago Man Admits Slaying His Wife

Chicago, Sept. 22 (AP)—The story of how Michael Jabubiak had lived on wages earned by his wife as a charwoman and at the same time courted another woman was unfolded tonight when police said they obtained his confession that he had slain his wife.

Jakubiak admitted in the presence of his four children that he had slashed his wife to death last Wednesday night as she was returning from her nightly scrubbing of floors in a downtown skyscraper. He said he did so because his daughters told him his wife was untrue to him.

The confession came today after Mrs. Otto Jeffers told her husband that Jakubiak had made love to her and had proposed that they kill her husband and Mrs. Jakubiak so they might live together. Jeffers communicated this infomation to detectives.

Two Men Buried In Potter's Field

Newberry, Sept. 22 (Special)—Two men were buried in the potter's field here on Saturday morning local authorities being unable to find relatives or friends to claim their bodies.

Anton Ontoncinch whose body was found hanging in a tree near the Peter Grefine farm east of Newberry and Herbert Kelland who died in the Luce county infirmary were the two. Kelland, better known as "One-eyed Reilly" was an old-time lumber jack who has lived the life of the rough peoples who opened up this country for civilization. It is told that he has a brother among the veterinary surgeons in the king's stables in England, but nothing so far has been learned of any relatives on this side of the seas.

Ontoncinch had papers on his person giving names and addresses of several people but messages to the towns mentioned brought word that no one of that name is known there. The state police are still working on this case.

CAME FOR FUNERAL

Several out of town people came to Newberry to attend the funeral of J. L. Richardson who was buried fro mthe family residence on Newberry avenue at noon on Sunday under the auspices of the Odd Fellows lodge. FARM WOMAN BENEFITED

Marriage Unites Young "Elopers" From Marquette

An automobile accident, arrest, a day spent in the county jail at Escanaba, and arraignment in court on a charge of driving away an automobile without permission, failed to wreck the matrimonial plans of Miss Doris Jorgenson, 16, and Robert Spencer, 19, both of Marquette. They were married Friday afternoon in St. Peter's cathedral rectory at Marquette by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. H. A. Buchholtz.

The wind-up of the romance began one day last week when Miss Jorgenson and Spencer took a car owned by her uncle, Edward Fraser, and set out on a short trip. Near Chatham they met with an accident, the car skidding in the gravel and overturning twice.

Not desirous of having the wreck come to the knowledge of her uncle, at least for the time being, they set out for Munising, where they received medical attention. From Munising they went to Escanaba, where Thursday night they were arrested at an Escanaba private tourist home, on a charge of driving away an automobile without permission of the owner.

Ten minutes after Escanaba police received the call from Marquette the young lovers were in the county jail. Friday they were returned to Marquette and arraigned before Judge C. F. Button in municipal court, but charges were dismissed and the wedding followed, thus bringing about a realization of their original plans.

DELFT THEATRE

Announcement Extraordinary

In keeping with our policy of giving to our patrons only the finest in entertainment, we now take greatest pleasure in announcing the completion of the installation of our

New Mammoth Sound Screen

The largest and finest picture screen north of Chicago.

The new screen, completely filling in our proscenium arch, is of fire resistant material measuring 18 feet high and 30 feet long; due to its tremendous weight it was necessary to install special counterweighting apparatus to lift and lower it when occasion demands it.

It will be impossible to utilize the entire surface of the screen at the present time without distorting the picture, but until the third dimension pictures make their appearance, the portion to be used will exceed in size considerably the limits of the old screen.

The work of installing was done by the theatre staff in conjunction with an expert from the factory where the screen was manufactured.

A new set of lenses, imported from England, have been installed in the projection machines. These lenses are the only ones which can be used with a screen of this proportion without giving distortion to the picture. The duty on these lenses alone exceeds the cost of any lense manufactured in the United States and they transmit a clearness and sharpness to the image never before achieved in motion pictures.

"He Goes Not Onward Who Does Not Travel Upward"

We quote this as a symbol of our aspirations always to keep before us the view of attaining something a little better than anything we have thus far achieved.

he made twenty additional axes of the same kind by hand, for woodsmen who insisted on having them. Then, in 1898, he commenced manufacturing operations in a little shop at the rear of his residence on Wisconsin avenue.

Founded Factory

This was in the hey-day of the annual sportsmen's shows in New York City, and the following show, in March 1899, found Marble occupying exhibition space, with 100 of his axes. Approval greeted the handicraft of the backwoodsman and Marble came back to Gladstone, built a small factory and began the manufacture of the axes on a larger scale. Shortly after he was joined in the enterprise by an old friend and business associate, Frank H. Van Cleve, of Escanaba, and together they built a factory which is the main building of the present plant.

As an inventor, Webster Marble originated many of the best known patented equipment which have come into wide use among outdoor sportsmen. These include many different types of axes and knives, waterproof matchboxes, compasses, guns, gun sights and numerous gun accessories. During the World war he manufactured over a million rifle sights for the allies, and when the United States entered the conflict he supplied heavy equipment orders for the American fighting troops.

In Other Ventures

Mr. Marble's business associations were not alone confined to the Arms company. He was the founder of the Gladstone State Savings Bank of which he served as its first president and also as director. He was also one of the founders of the Marble-Card Electric company, established in 1917. He took a keen interest in civic affairs and aided materially in the development of Gladstone.

Mr. Marble was married at Frankfort, November 20, 1877, to Rosella M. Deery. Mrs. Marble passed away in 1923 and in 1924 Mr. Marble remarried, taking as his wife a sister of his first wife, Eunice H. Derry, who survives him. Two sons, William L. and Floyd W., both of Gladstone, also survive, as do a sister, Mrs. James A. Hetrick of Gladstone; an uncle, W. D. Chipman of Milwaukee; a nephew, Russell E. Hetrick of Iron Mountain, and six grandchildren.

Mr. Marble was a charter member of Gladstone Lodge No. 396, F. & A. M., of which lodge he was made a life member in 1929. He was also a charter member of the Gladstone Rotary club. He was affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Memorial church, serving as a member of the board of trustees and on the finance committee for many years.

The body was returned to Gladstone Monday and taken to Swenson Bros. Undertaking parlors for burial preparations. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the family home, 814 Wisconsin avenue. Interment will be in the family lot in Fernwood cemetery.

pressed themselves as confident the mayor would not retire without a fight. Should the injunction be obtained tomorrow Murphy would once more be forced to postpone his inauguration. The administration's demand for a recount caused a postponement of the inauguration plans September 15.

Three courses were seen open for the mayor today. He can refuse to retire and force Murphy to get a court order to oust him; he can follow his earlier announcement and abide by the results of the recount, or he can retire and start quo warranto proceedings to test Murphy's title.

The mayor could not be reached tonight for an announcement regarding his plans.

Again the two clashed when Senator Nye demanded to know who had helped him prepare a statement on his views of the Nebraska political situation. Norris declaring he had been helped by no one.

The senator was plainly amused when the grocer declared that "this senator had done nothing for Nebraska."

Freshmen Arriving At U. of Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 22 (AP)—The University of Michigan awoke from its summer of comparative idleness today as freshmen began arriving for "Orientation Week."

The new arrivals today not only included freshmen but other students bringing advance standings from other colleges and universities. The week's program includes addresses by faculty members, classification and general lining up of students for the new school year.

Mosher-Jordan hall, the university's new dormitory which has accommodations for 450 women, was opened today.

Classes in all colleges will open one week from today starting the 113th year of the university and the 93rd on the Ann Arbor campus.

GANG HOODLUMS UNDER ARREST

Three Are Caught But 23 Others Are Being Sought

Chicago, Sept. 22. (AP)—Three of Chicago's 26 "public enemies" were under arrest today as the war on racketeers and gangsters, instituted by the September grand jury, continued to produce evidence against "rulers by force and violence."

The first to be arrested were Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, believed by police to be the most shot-at of Chicago's hoodlums, and "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, former pickpocket who rose to affluence as the proprietor of one of "Scarface Al" Capone's gambling joints.

The third, Danny Stanton, happened to be detained at the detective bureau when vagrancy warrants were issued against the twenty-six by Municipal Judge John H. Lule, so his copy was slipped between the bars. Stanton, reputed to be one of Capone's lieutenants in the effort to edge in on legitimate labor unions, was available for the vagrancy service because of a gun-toting charge against him.

Mangano Released.

Mangano was released when a bond of $10,000, approved by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli, was presented Judge Lyle. Remembering the judge's threat to jail prisoners who shielded themselves from photographers, he stared into the lenses of a battery of cameras aimed at him, without blinking.

O'Donnell insisted today that he was "through with the racket." Known as one of the city's pioneer beer runners, he has survived numerous fusillades. He walked into a police station and gave himself up. Later he was released on bond approved by the state's attorney's office when his brother, Steve, posted property worth $50,000.

In October, 1928, O'Donnell was caught in front of a garage by a group of machine gunners for the late "Dingbat" Oberta. "Spike" ducked, and although policemen later found fifty cartridge shells on the spot, O'Donnell was not even scratched.

"Then there would be an end to all this excitement," Legge asserted. "There would be no wheat for sale."

The department of agriculture joined in advising the purchase of feedstuffs at this time.

While the chairman said the full effect on the market price of the short selling by the Russian government was uncertain, an official of the agency which placed the selling orders announced the total of their operations had been 7,765,000 bushels.

E. Y. Belitzky, vice president of the All-Russian Textile Syndicate, said the operations were carried on only on the ninth, tenth and eleventh of this month. He denied they extended over a period of several months as the secretary said he understood.

Belitzky said he had offered department of agriculture representatives the full figures at the time they asked if wheat had been sold short, but that he was informed "the secretary of agriculture would communicate with me if he desired these figures." The names of the brokers used were given at that time, he added.

Chairman Fish of the house communist investigating committee prepared to send forward tomorrow subpoenas for representatives of three large New York brokerage houses, to appear at the investigation in that city Saturday. He declined to make public the names of the firms.

Officials of the syndicate are to be called to testify at the same time to determine the extent of the operations.

Eureka, Calif., Sept. 22. (AP)—An earthquake of several seconds duration shook Eureka at 7:05 p. m., tonight, toppling chimneys, spilling dishes off shelves and doing other minor damage.

Several slight shocks preceded the main quake. A number of small fires started when the chimneys crashed to earth, but those were extinguished with little damage.

Witnesses said the quakes were accompanied by a rumbling noise.

$72,500,000 Checks Exchanges Hands

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 2 (AP)—Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, today handed a check for $72,500,000 to E. W. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corp., completing the purchase by Standard of Indiana of the Sinclair company's one-half interest in the Sinclair Pipe Line Co. and the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co.

With this transaction, Standard of Indiana acquired full title to the companies, as it already owned the other half interest in each company.

similar illegal ballots were recorded elsewhere.

A renewal of arguments between Groesbeck attorneys and counsel for Brucker and the state board of canvassers appeared when many precincts in Missaukee county were found to have not properly rotated their ballots. The law provides ballots must be rotated so first one and then the other candidate's name appears at the head of the list. When the error was discovered in the first precinct the state board ruled the ballots should be discarded and no vote counted. Then a number of other precincts with the same mistake were discovered and an appeal was taken.

Groesbeck attorneys say if they succeed in having the votes thrown out it will be a gain of 275 votes for their side. They also claim the same error was made in voting machine precincts in Grand Rapids, Jackson, Saginaw and elsewhere, and that if all are thrown out Groesbeck will leap into the lead.

Despite the hub-bub caused by preparations for legal fights, the recount proceeded with less confusion than at any time since it started. On the face of official compilations, which do not take into account the more than 3,000 protested ballots, Groesbeck was running far short of the gain he needs to overtake Brucker. In 866 precincts the net gain for Groesbeck was 133 votes, an average of less than one vote to six precincts. To win Groesbeck needs an average of nearly two votes in each precinct.

Count Wayne Soon

Wayne county ballot boxes started pouring into recount headquarters late this afternoon. Counting of them may be start Tuesday. Challengers and attorneys for both sides have been warned by leaders to be on guard for possible errors in the heavy vote.

A congressional recount also will start tomorrow. A recheck of the votes cast in the Seventh district, where Jesse P. Wolcott nosed out Congressman Louis C. Cramton by 102 votes on the face of canvass returns, will get under way. Separate tables will look after this tabulation.

Conjecture as to what the supreme court will do with the petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the state board of canvassers to conduct the recount in accordance with Groesbeck contentions was widespread. The court may refuse entirely to accept the plea. It may issue an order for the state board to show cause why it should not be so compelled. If a writ actually issues it probably would be necessary to recall many ballot boxes which have been returned to county seats. There was a disposition in some quarters to believe that if Groesbeck loses his legal tilts he may call the recount off, as his ratio of gain thus far has been far too small to indicate ultimate victory.

why Mr. Meyer with his long experience in business finance and agricultural problems has been selected for the all important task. There will be a few radicals who will oppose his confirmation but he has friends on the Democratic as well as the Republican side of the aisle.

Quietly and unobtrusively Mr. Meyer took the oath of office, issued no statement, but merely dug into the work with which he is already familiar. He will have the support of his colleagues on the board because they too are close friends and persons for whose background and economic judgment Mr. Meyer has a profound respect.

It will take a few weeks for the impression of stability and certainty to be fully understood by the money world and this means Europe as well as the United States. That is why the start made by Mr. Meyer this week may be truly said to be of world wide significance.

Taxation Probe In Detroit Under Way

Detroit, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Michigan state commission of inquiry into taxation opened a three day hearing here today, seeking a basis for recommendations for revision of taxing laws to be made to the 1931 legislature.

The commission was created by the last legislature.

Income taxes formed the subject of today's hearing, which was featured by the statement of R. Wayne Newton of the Michigan farm bureau, who said he favored a state income tax if it would relieve the plight of farmers and land owners.

The commission was informed that 18 states have an income tax. Agitation for such a tax in Michigan has been underway for some time.

Inheritance and corporation taxes will be taken up tomorrow while Wednesday will be devoted to any other phases of the taxation problem.

Members of the commission are: William J. Thomas, Grand Rapids, chairman; Peter S. Lennon, Lannon, vice-chairman; Raymond H. Berry, Detroit, secretary; B. F. Burtless, Detroit, statistician; Adolph F. Heidkamp, Lake Linden; Fred R. Ming, Cheboygan; Frank Wade, Flint; Melville E. Petermon, Calumet, and John A. Russell, Detroit.

$10,000 Damages Given Miss Boyle In Moseley Suit

Damages of $10,000 against Floyd C. Moseley of Escanaba were awarded by a jury in circuit court here last evening in favor of the plaintiff, Miss Beatrice Boyle of Gladstone, for injuries received in an automobile accident occurring last October.

Atty. Torval E. Strom, representing Moseley, announced last night that the verdict would be appealed to the state supreme court on a question of law in connection with the case. Miss Boyle, who was riding in the rear seat of an automobile driven by Moseley, claimed that the defendant drove the car in a reckless manner, causing the mishap which caused her serious injury. Attorney Strom stated that his appeal of the case will be based on a statute, passed by the last state legislature, which in "host and guest" type of automobile accident litigation, the driver is not liable unless gross, wilful and wanton conduct can be proven to be responsible for the injuries. This is to be probably the first test case of this new law.

The plaintiff was represented by Atty. H. J. Rushton.

HERE AND THERE

CONSERVATION will be the paramount topic of discussion at the meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at Marquette on October 9 and 10.

Agriculture, lumbering, paper making, mining and recreation, as they relate to the subject of conservation, will be considered, with nationally known authorities in their respective fields, appearing on the speaking program. The upper peninsula of Michigan has arrived at that stage in its development where conservation means much. The information that will be assembled at this meeting will, no doubt, prove of immense value to the Development Bureau in mapping out its conservation program for the future.

YOU don't have to be young to be doing things nowadays. Stories appearing in newspapers during the past week tell of the exploits of several old-timers. A man in Newberry is still working every day as a shoe cobbler at 97; an 86-year-old woman in Garden still churns butter and does her own housework; and a 103-year-old boy in Lower Michigan has started farming. And we mustn't forget the grandmother, who although in her eighties, essayed to play football with her grandsons and suffered a fracture of her hip when she tried to stop the runner. You're as old as you feel, all right.

CITY and township clerks of every county in the upper peninsula departed Sunday and yesterday with their boxes of ballots for the recount headquarters at Lansing. Former Governor Groesbeck, making his appeal for the votes of the people in the September primary, charged extravagance in the Green administration and promised that he would, if elected, conduct the state affairs under a program of rigid economy. He loses the nomination, and now he will make the taxpayers pay for a $250,000 expenditure for the recount he has demanded.

Economy? Bosh!

NEWSPAPER MERGERS

THE merger of three newspapers in Rockford, Ill., under the ownership of one company, which is headed by Ruth Hanna McCormick, who was recently nominated by Illinois Republicans for the U. S. senate, has been announced. As a result, Rockford will have only two newspapers, one published in the morning and the other in the evening.

The newspapers, like every other branches of business, are following the trend toward fewer and sounder institutions. There may be some who will cry out against this elimination of competition, but usually it is not long before they realize that improvement in service has been made possible.

Not so many years ago, Escanaba and other communities in the upper peninsula boasted of two to four newspapers. When compared with present day standards these journals did not rank high. There was not enough advertising patronage to support so many publications, and consequently the editors struggled along the best they could, managing to keep a step ahead of the sheriff.

Now, the upper peninsula has a group of newspapers that equals and even surpasses those of other communities of the same population. This has been brought about by consolidations, leaving one newspaper alone in its field. As a result, these upper peninsula newspapers have been able to obtain enough business from their advertisers to secure new equipment for their plants, pay better wages to get more skilled workers and also increase their circulation so that advertisers are getting better returns for each dollar they expend for space.

Where a merchant in former years was forced to advertise in several publications to secure complete coverage, now he uses only one medium, reaching every prospective purchaser in his own community, as well as many more in a large surrounding territory where the newspaper has obtained additional circulation.

COPPER

"COPPER," writes Samuel Crowther in World's Work, "is one of those basic commodities which, it can be demonstrated, the world simply cannot do without." And yet the world, every so often, seems able to do without copper to an extent that causes its producers to sprout gray hairs.

The ancients esteemed the metal for its many virtues, but the only field in which copper is today supreme is one that the ancients never heard of—electricity. As yet, none of the new metals coming almost daily from the laboratories have been able to challenge the position of copper as a conductor.

Seventy-two percent of the world's production comes out of North and South America; and all the mines, except a few in Canada, are owned and operated by Americans—companies with substantial interests in most of the mines in other parts of the world.

Three great American companies not only control production, but they also own more than half of the copper and brass manufacturing facilities of the country. The industry's one big customer—the electrical industry—absorbs 60 per cent of the world's production.

The whole copper set-up, on paper, seems ideal—yet the fortunes of the metal have been most unhappy. The industry, despite all precautions to the contrary, is not making money and is just about as upset as though it had never been regulated and rationalized.

Copper is ancient. We know it was used at least six thousand years ago, and that rather soon men discovered they could mix it with zinc and tin to make harder metals. In America the Indians mined it around Lake Superior long before the coming of the white man, and brass was cast in a foundry in Massachusetts as early as 1864. The brass industry grew up in Connecticut, and it used to be that everything connected with the mining of copper centered in Boston. Today the control of the metal has passed to New York, but the brass workers—descendants of generations of peculiarly skilled workmen—remain in the Naugatuck Valley.

Of the "Big Three," the Anaconda copper barons are in the lead, closely followed by the Kennecott and Phelps-Dodge groups. These interests, with a few smaller ones, are perfectly organized from mine to finished product. Yet their 60 per cent customer—the electrical industry—has driven some very hard bargains. The producers, consequently, are daily searching for new uses for their metal.

Copper, as an American metal, helps to build our prosperity. The industry is down now. But it has been down before. And also it has been up. The interesting development will be to see if the producers have learned anything from their recent trials. At least, some of the investors in Escanaba and elsewhere are hoping that they have learned enough to enable them to put the copper industry back on its feet.

WORK, NOT CHARITY

PRESIDENT William Green of the American Federation of Labor seems to have hit the nail squarely on the head when he remarked that his organization would prefer steady jobs to unemployment insurance.

"It is only a step from compulsory unemployment insurance to the dole," he told an interviewer recently. "The best, the real remedy for unemployment is employment. We want jobs, not charity."

Mr. Green believes that this goal can be reached through the establishment of shorter working days and shorter working weeks and through a systematic balancing of production with demand, which would eliminate what is called cyclical unemployment.

There is sound sense in that. Unemployment insurance is only a palliative. Mr. Green is right in preferring a remedy that goes to the roots of the matter.

One reason which may account for Sir Thomas Lipton's losing streak is that he has his mind too much on his business. You know—a trifle tea-sick.

Chicago, it is reported, is going in for miniature golf in a big way. So it appears they must even kill Time there.

Anniversary

"BLACK FRIDAY"

On September 23, 1869, a financial panic began in New York when gold rose to 164 after a clique headed by Jay Gould and Colonel James Fisk, Jr., made a daring attempt to corner the gold market. "Black Friday" is the name given the two disastrous days that followed.

The Fisk ring had purchased about $60,000,000 in gold, agreeing to pay $96,000,000 in currency. The transactions were in full swing, with gold hitting 160, when the United States government telegraphed to sell $4,000,000 worth of the metal. Instantly the gold fell to 140 and to 133 and finally there were no buyers at any price.

A panic followed, affecting business in the United States and disrupting international trade. The men who engineered the deals continued to settle transactions in which they profited, but numerous court injunction delayed settlement of the deals in which they suffered losses.

While no definite figures were available, it was estimated that the gold clique's profits were about $12,000,000 on transactions they were willing to admit and $20,000,000 on transactions which they refused to acknowledge or admit.

THE HOUSE THAT WAS TO BE

Down that street and out that way,
Where the children start to play
When they shake the bonds of town,
Out that way and down that road
Stands the ghost of an abode,
New, and yet all tumbledown.

Sills are there without a floor,
Doorways there without a door,
Rafters there without a roof,
Staring windows, without glass,
Watch the people as they pass,
Watch them lonely and aloof.

'Tis a house by hands begun,
Dreamed by hearts, but never done,
'Tis an empty memory,
Like a rose that blooms too soon,
Fills the morning, fades at noon,
'Tis the house that was to be.

So it is that living brings
Every heart unfinished things,
Hopes that faded, dreams we had,
But their memory has brought
To my own a foolish thought,
Yet a thought that made me glad:

Maybe yonder flow'rs re-bloom,
Things unfinished we resume,
Wait a little—presently
In some other land than this
Fires shall kindle, lips shall kiss,
In the house that was to be.

HEART HUNGRY

CHAPTER IX

Barney Shields looked disappointed.

"You mean Celia's away for the evening?" he asked, hoping the answer might be in the negative.

Mrs. Rogers nodded.

"Yes, come in, Barney. I might as well tell you all that's happened."

The perplexed young man followed her into the shabby living room. For the first time he wondered if Celia's mother might really be seriously ill. She looked tonight as though she were sick. Mrs. Rogers took a chair and Barney eased down on the davenport.

"Celia's father is here," the woman said abruptly. "She didn't even know he was living. You see I'd—well, I'd put off telling her. He was my first husband, and we were divorced. Celia was such a baby then. She grew up thinking Bob Rogers was her own father."

"Well—that must have been a shock!"

Shields' laugh was forced but he was trying to appear at ease.

"She's—with him now," Margaret Rogers went on explaining. "They're having dinner down town. He's a rich man, Barney. He wants to take her to New York."

"What? Take Celia?"

Again Margaret nodded. "He can give her so much. It wouldn't be fair to keep her here! Barney, you understand a little how it is for me, don't you—"

"But—say, Mrs. Rogers—is Celia leaving! Why, that changes everything! When's she going? Does she—want to go?"

Mrs. Rogers nodded her head affirmatively.

"I think she does now. Of course she was upset last evening. I didn't realize what a shock it was going to be. Oh, but they'll be here for a day or two. She wouldn't go without saying goodby to you, Barney. You've been such friends—"

The young man seemed completely at a loss for words. He was still staring at the woman. Margaret Rogers was moved by his helplessness.

"I'll always appreciate what you've done for Celia," she told him. "She's had so few good times compared with other girls and she's enjoyed the drives and evenings you've spent together so much."

Barney had found his voice now. His cheeks flushed darkly.

"Mrs. Rogers, I wasn't going to say anything for a while but I—well, I think a lot of Celia. I know she's awfully young and I'm not nearly good enough for her, but just the same I care more for her than any girl I ever met. I've been hoping some day she'd marry me. I had it sort of figured out that after I got a better job and was earning more money I could ask her to be my wife."

He stopped abruptly. In his gray eyes was such appeal that Margaret Rogers stifled the exclamation on her lips.

"Oh, but—you're both so young!" she said gently.

"Celia is. I'm 23." The youth paused and then went on aggressively. "Did you say she's really—rich?"

"Celia's father is a rich man," Mrs. Rogers agreed. "I believe he means to do a great deal for her. It's not all decided yet. There have been so many things—"

"Going to live in New York, you said?"

Margaret nodded her head. "Yes, for a time. You see, she'll have to grow used to the the idea of having these relatives she's never heard of before. I'm glad you told me how you feel about my daughter, Barney. I—well, you know I like you very much. Of course I hadn't dreamed you had such serious thoughts. As you say, Celia's a child. I think it's best for both of you to put marriage out of your minds for some time. You have so many years ahead of you!"

Barney smiled sardonically.

"If she goes off to meet a lot of rich folks I guess she'll put me out of her mind all right."

"But my dear young man—"

Shields interrupted. "I know, Mrs. Rogers. I shouldn't have said that. Only you see this thing's a shock for me too. I'd better be going. I suppose you have lots of things to do. Packing and everything. Tell Celia, will you, that I'll stop in tomorrow evening—that is, if she can see me."

"I'll tell her," Mrs. Rogers agreed. "She'll want to see you I'm sure. Good night, Barney."

"Good night."

The sound of the young man's footsteps on the stairs died away and still Margaret Rogers sat where she was, struggling with her thoughts.

Health Tips

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The most dismal individuals in the world are those who have lost their appetites or, in other words of the ruralist, "gone off their feed." The causes of loss of appetite are many. Some are physical, but undoubtedly the majority are associated with mental disturbances.

In a recent survey of the subject, Dr. J. M. Berkman has selected a group of patients who suffered from loss of appetite associated with distinctly nervous conditions. These patients appear emaciated and pale; they appear preoccupied and gaze at the floor most of the time; they answer questions promptly, but become distinterested immediately thereafter. Persistant questioning usually reveals that the patient suffers loss of appetite due to some psychic disturbance. The blood pressure is low, the pulse rate is low, and most of the physical examinations give negative results.

In one large clinic, 117 cases were seen in 13 years, so that the condition is fairly infrequent. More than 80 per cent of the patients were women, and in not one of the cases could there be found any definite change in the nervous system, although an actual psychologic base was discovered in only 20 of the 117. The difficulty apparently has to do with the fact that the mental manifestation is associated with a complete unwillingness to discuss the mental side of the case.

As has been previously mentioned in these columns, it is sometimes possible to increase the rate of digestion and absorption of food in the human body by giving thyroid to raise the rate of the basal metabolism. In some of the cases in the group here discussed this was attempted and the metabolic rate was elevated. However, there is great danger in the method. If the patient absolutely refuses to eat with the rate elevated, there is a failure to increase the intake of food and loss of weight which takes place more rapidly.

In some instances it is possible to force these patients to put on weight by putting a tube into the stomach and inserting food in that manner at the same time that the metabolic rate is increased. Sometimes following removal of the tube, the patient begins willing to eat, but in some cases it is necessary to keep the tube in use for long periods of time. It is also difficult to establish the exact dosage of thyroid that may be necessary and safe in the individual case.

In only one case did death occur while the patient was under treatment, that death being due to bronchopneumonia, which developed while the patient was being studied. It is, of course, realized that long-continued starvation produces conditions in which the body is subject to infection.

Apparently after a patient has starved himself for considerable time and lost a good deal of weight the basal metabolism is lowered, so that much less food is required in order to keep the emaciated body going. If this were not the case, death would promptly ensue. The sad aspect of this matter is that degenerative changes occur due to the long continued malnutrition. Eventually when the mind is restored to normal function, the patient may wish to begin eating again but finds that the tissues have degenerated so badly that perfect health for the future is an impossible promise.

Mail Carriers Okeh 44-Hour Week Bill; Won't Ask Pay Raise

Members of the Michigan State Association of Letter Carriers, attending the upper peninsula district convention in Escanaba on Sunday, adopted a resolution endorsing the bill proposing a 44-hour week for postal employees, but voted not to start any movement for a salary increase in view of the present business depression that exists in the country.

Charles J. Sherlock of Escanaba was elected president of the upper peninsula branch of the state association. Other officers named are: First vice president, Thomas Carey, Marquette; second vice president, Ray Cummings, Sault Ste. Marie; secretary, R. J. Lambert, Iron Mountain; treasurer, William James, Iron Mountain; members of the executive board, Axel Johnson, Marquette; J. J. Embs, Escanaba; George Minne, Gladstone; F. M. Larson, Calumet; Matt Mattson, Sault Ste. Marie; Joe Lesica, Manistique; and James Mikolasek, Menominee.

Iron River Gets Meet

Iron River was selected as the place for next year's meeting.

Brief business sessions were held both morning and afternoon at the Knights of Pythias hall, with a banquet at the Delta hotel at noon. State and national officers delivered addresses at the meetings. They were: Charles Duffy, Chicago, national treasurer; Raymond Hall, state president; Richard Maslin, Ann Arbor, state secretary; Walter Beavis, member of the national sick benefit board of the association; and Dennis Murray, Kalamazoo, chairman of the national constitution and laws committee.

Postmaster George G. Geneisse presided as toastmaster at the banquet.

Discussion of the 44-hour week bill, which will be presented at the next session of congress, disclosed that many postoffices in the country are already operating on this basis through special arrangement of working schedules between the employees themselves. If the bill becomes law, the postal workers will have every Saturday afternoon off. Other matters pertaining to the betterment of the service, both for the employes and the public were considered.

The convention passed a resolution, urging that publishers mail their magazines unfolded as it has been found that delivery and handling is made easier when these publications are "flat." Appreciation for the courtesies extended by the local branch, Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and city officials was expressed in another resolution adopted by the association. Congressman Frank P. Bohn, who is a member of the house postal committee, communicated his regrets at not being able to attend the meeting.

Other convention visitors were: Manistique, George Hammil, Joe Lesica; Iron Mountain, Ed LaCasse, J. Hughes, F. L. Wright; Menominee, F. J. DuFrueq, Carl Anderson, N. Jensen, J. Mantau, James Mikolasek, Joe Turner, C. Johnson, George Lemeureaux; Gladstone, George Minne, Elmer Caron; Iron River, Lawrence Hartley, Dave Monahan, William James, Pat O'Brien; Ironwood, Earl Hubbard.

North Western Ry. Tie Plant Closes

Announcement has been made that the Chicago and North Western tie plant will cease operations today, causing the laying off of practically the entire crew.

It is expected that the men will be taken back to work about November 1.

Bay de Noc Gunmen Liable To Stiff Poacher's Penalty

The purpose of Escanaba's unique waterfowl refuge along the shore of Bay de Noc, within the city limits, is threatened with destruction by poachers, according to complaints that have come to local officers. It has been reported that duck hunters have invaded the wild life refuge with guns and routed duck and teal found in numbers along the bay at this season.

Conservation officers are calling attention to the fact that violation of game refuge regulations is regarded as one of the most serious offenses in the state game laws, and those convicted are liable to confiscation of their firearms and boat, as well as open to a heavy fine.

The refuge at Escanaba extends from lighthouse point to brewery point, and is one of three of its kind in the entire state. It has been highly praised by state officers, and photographs have been taken of the flocks of wild fowl swimming and feeding along the shore.

Over 2,000 Cars Get Brake Tests

Up to yesterday, the Escanaba police department had inspected 2,000 cars in the safety campaign now being conducted in this city. Brakes, lights, signals and other safety devices are inspected by officers, and cars which pass the tests satisfactorily are given an "O. K." sticker for the windshield.

State police officers are assisting the local department in the work here this week. Motorists are not obliged to take the tests unless they desire, but are responding readily in the campaign, realizing that the inspection work is for their own good in promoting safety on highways, Chief of Police John Tolan said yesterday

YOUR OWN INTEREST IN FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

EVERY week should be a fire prevention week, even though only one is officially so observed.

This Year—October 5-11

The activities of Fire Prevention Week represent a concentration of effort within a short period. That the results carry through farther and farther into the months that follow is one of the encouraging signs of this national conservation movement.

You have a personal reason for helping to observe Fire Prevention Week. It concerns your family—your home—your business—your community. If you take no part in the public observance, you can at least make the valuable contribution of your own better preparation to resist fire through preventive measures.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE companies—through the National Board of Fire Underwriters, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations—have done much toward making Fire Prevention Week popular and effective for all property owners whether insured or not.

Increased public cooperation should result in reducing fire losses and in that way justify further reductions in the average cost of fire insurance—a cost which has consistently declined over a long period of years.

Schumann-Heink Teaches Singing To Forty Girls

New York, Sept. 22—America will become a country of singing youth, if Mme. Schumann-Heink, now 69 years old, has her way.

That grand old lady, after more than a half century of world-renowned opera and concert singing, is planning to do her bit to bring song into its own in this country of her adoption, by personally teaching 40 American girls, handpicked by herself for the promise their voices show.

She has her own prejudices against co-education in singing schools.

"Women should teach girls and men should teach boys singing," she asserts.

Urges Early Training

And she has her own ideas about how many a good voice is lost before it is discovered. She says:

"If children were taught the correct principles of breathing at an early age, many potentially great voices would be discovered and developed."

Four years, at least, is the estimate given by Schumann-Heink for the time required to give a student the fundamentals of singing. She plans to teach her 40 pupils in groups, supplemented by personal coaching. Once each month some of the pupils will be presented in Steinway Hall, since she believes that public appearances and public appraisal are exteremely important in the development of singers.

"I should like to see each city and town in this country have its oratorio and light opera society, where both youthful singers and conductors can get their start and have experience in routine. I should like to think, too, that the time will come when rich patrons will furnish every musical student with free tickets to hear artists render the works they are studying.'

Sang for Soldiers

Madame Schumann-Heink first conceived her plan, which will be inaugurated this October, some years ago. During the World war and the post armistice days she sang to literally thousands of wounded men. Now she has her chance to aid the girls of America.

"I feel I have at least five good years of hard work ahead of me," she said. "In that time I hope to see many pupils make names for themselves who have started and trained with me. I hope my long experience will iron out some of the difficulties and make easier the long, hard grind it usually takes before young singers reach the top."

The Bidding

At contract, South, the dealer, would open with one heart. West, holding two high card tricks and a biddable four-card suit, would be justified in bidding two clubs. North jumps the bid to three hearts and South, having more than a minumum, now takes the contract to four hearts.

The Play

West's strongest suit is clubs, and as it is headed with king-queen, the king is led, dummy winning the trick with the ace. A small trump is next led from dummy which the declarer wins with the king. Declarer now leads the ace of trump, picking up the remaining trump in the opponents' hands.

Declarer's next lead is a small diamond, West plays the eight, dummy winning the trick with the ace. The five of diamonds is returned from the dummy which the declarer wins with the king. Declarer now leads the seven of diamonds, trumping in the dummy with the seven of hearts. The nine of clubs is next led from dummy, East playing the six, declarer the deuce, West winning the trick with the jack.

West now leads the queen of clubs, dummy plays the ten, East the eight and the declarer refuses to trump the trick, discarding the deuce of spades. He is now assured of going game. If West returns a spade, declarer is bound to make his king of spades. If a club is returned the declarer will trump in dummy and discard a losing spade.

By discarding a loser and keeping the lead in the West hand, declarer has gone game.

SHUFFLE AND CUT

While it is customary for the player on the left of the declarer to shuffle the cards, remember that the declarer has the right to shuffle the cards last. The pack must be shuffled thoroughly in view of all players, but the face of no card shall be exposed during the shuffle. If any provision of this law be violated, any player before the deal starts may demand a new shuffle.

Immediately before the deal, the dealer shall place the deck before the righ-hand opponent who shall make a legitimate cut by lifting off the top portion and placing it beside the bottom portion toward the dealer. The dealer then completes the cut. No cut shall be made that leaves fewer than four cards in the top or bottom portion. If any player shuffle after the cut, a new shuffle and a new cut may be demanded by any player.

AT THE DELFT

Philo Vance is back in town, trailing the killer in "The Benson Murder Case." He came to the Delft Theatre last night in a mist of mistery and suspense that kept the first night audiences on the qui vive until he finally solved the greatest of the S. S. Van Dine detective-thrillers and brought the guilty man to justice.

"The Benson Murder Case" is better, more exciting, more suspenseful, than even "The Canary Murder Case" or "The Greene Murder Case." William Powell is more convincing than ever as the suave, silk-hatted, amateur sleuth Philo Vance, and Eugene Pallette as Sergeant Heath is a riot of homely humor. Van Dine's story is filled with gripping climaxes that twist and turn as the police fumble with the misleading clues. It is baffling to the end. It defies solution.

Five persons are involved in the investigation following the death of Anthony Benson. Two women are put through the ruthless third degree. Police are led off on wrong trails which seem to involve each one of the suspects in turn. And, when everything seems hopelessly entangled, Philo Vance puts his finger on the guilty person and proves him guilty.

DR. SHAW HAS CLOSE ESCAPE

Auto Turns Turtle When Answering Call to Parker Fire

While rushing to the aid of Miss Rose Mercier, who was injured in the blaze at Parker's resort early Monday morning, Dr. George A. Shaw miraculously escaped death when his coach struck a tree at the intersection of Deer street and Mackinac avenue, and turned turtle. The car was totally demolished and how Dr. Shaw escaped with only a severe shaking up and minor injuries, remains a mystery.

The accident occurred when an unknown driver, proceeding south on Mackinac avenue, failed to observe the arterial sign and drove right through on to the main highway. In an attempt to avoid hitting the automobile, Dr. Shaw swerved his car to the left in an effort to drive it into the vacant corner lot, but in doing so hit a tree, the impact of which turned the car over on its left side.

After he had regained consciousness, Dr. Shaw crawled out of his car through the top and summoned Dr. A. R. Tucker who dressed the wounds which were sustained about the face and head. Dr. Shaw also suffered a knee injury.

After he had received medical attention, Dr. Shaw gave aid to Miss Mercier, who in the meantime had been taken to the Shaw hospital. Dr. Shaw is recuperating at his home and will be sufficiently recovered in a few days to resume his duties. Efforts are being made by local police to obtain the identity of the driver who caused the accident and failed to stop.

THEATRES

RIALTO

Clara Bow has discovered that love is just as exciting among the millionaires as it is with ordinary folk, and the "It" personality is at its finest in the sparkling, comedy-full musical romance, "Love Among the Millionaires," showing at the Rialto theatre tonight only, as it was when confined to the fleet in "True to the Navy."

Amid the clatter of dishes and the blatant tones of a nickel-in-the-slot piano, "Love Among the Millionaires" gets underway. Clara sings a song, "Believe It or Not, I've Found My Man." That's where Stanley Smith comes in and transports the Redhead to a fairy paradise of the wealthy at Palm Beach. But, even, then, everything refuses to run smoothly.

"Love Among the Millionaires" is one of the most enjoyable pictures Clara Bow has ever made, and Clara really gets a chance to sing. Those who heard the "It" voice in "Paramount on Parade" and "True to the Navy" will want to hear the Redhead sing "Believe It or Not," "That's Worth While Waiting for," Love Among the Millionaires" and "Rarin' to Go." Clara sings with her voice, her eyes, her red hair, her whole body. She handles a song like she handles a man, with pep, personality and enthusiasm.

Mr. Erickson closed out his business last week and the building and fixtures were turned over to the new concern yesterday. Remodelling was begun and the interior will be refinished before the opening which is expected on or about October 1.

Cowell and Burns will handle a complete line of dry goods, men's, women's and children's ready-to-wear furnishings and footwear. A balcony is being constructed in the rear of the building on which the women's ready-to-wear department will be located.

Mr. Erickson entered in business here Sept. 22, 1925, and yesterday when he turned over the establishment to Cowell and Burns it was exactly five years to a day from the date of his initial venture. He first started in the building now occupied by the A. & P. at the corner of Ninth and Delta and a year later the business was moved to its new location. Mr. Erickson has not made definite announcement of his plans for the future.

Mr. and Mrs. John Norton and family motored to Marquette Sunday where John and Grayce are entering Northern State Teachers' College.

BY JOHN I. COOLEY,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Sept. 22. (AP)—Financial markets, with the exception of domestic bonds, suffered another sinking spell today.

In stocks, the average decline of 4.4 points in 90 issues was larger than last Friday's break and carried the composite to the lowest level since August 14. Commodities and foreign exchanges were heavy. Some wheat futures and all of the active months in cotton reached to new lows, while crude rubber and the October sugar position established new all-time minimums.

The general weakness was ascribed in part to nervousness over various foreign situations, including disturbances in Chile, rumblings of unrest in Cuba and Uruguay and anxiety over conditions in Germany. Shares of companies having large foreign interests were particularly unsettled, but little or no liquidation from abroad was reported on the stock market, although some of the leading European exchanges were uncertain. The German mark went to a 1930 low and its weakness was accompanied by another drop in German bonds here.

Share prices worked lower from the opening, but the selling was desultory until late in the session when the shorts became very active and succeeded in hammering pivotal shares, including U. S. Steel, to the lowest prices of the reaction. Sales in the last hour exceeded 1,000,000 shares and for the day totaled 2,332,655.

Secretary Lamont's statement, in which he noted the upturns in foreign and retail trade as well as substantial purchases of raw materials, received only passing attention. Although a steadier tone came into the market shortly after its appearance, the better tone was very temporary.

Cotton prices were the lowest of the season, closing off 9 to 13 points.

Sentiment in commission house circles was rather bearish and leading brokers counselled caution, although the possibility of a technical rally was emphasized. One of the statistical services which had been bullish on the business outlook revised its opinion to the extent of saying that the recovery probably would be slower and more moderate than had been expected.

Professional operators for the decline were apparently working on the supposition that third quarter earnings statements, available next month, would be poor, if not the most unfavorable of the year. Selling was again vigorous in the steels, utilities and farm implement shares and losses of 3 to 4 points were numerous as a result of the late pressure. U. S. Steel dipped to 159 7-8, its lowest in some time, closing at 160, a net loss of 3 7-8. American & Foreign Power, which has important foreign connections, was heavily sold and lost 6 points net. International Telephone, in a similar position, dropped to a new low for the year.

International Harvester also went under its previous minimum, yielding 4 points net, while Case tumbled 8.

Utah Copper, trading for the first time in several weeks, was quoted 38 points under the last sale. Stocks making new lows for the year included United Fruit, St. Louis San Francisco, Republic Steel common and preferred, Calumet and Hecla and Curtiss-Wright.

Easiness in most of the continental currencies was nominal. The Dutch gilder was one of the few firm spots, holding around the year's high.

BY DONALD C. BOLLES,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Sept 22. (AP)—Activity in the bond market was at the high level of the year today as liquidation continued in the foreign list, inspired by uncertainty over the German situation, and institutional inquiry held the domestic list on a firm basis.

The sharpest changes were in German municipals and industrials as investors continued to unload their holdings at sharp concessions under the previous final price. German International 5½s, and 7s, the two obligations of the republic most widely held in this country, sold off 2¼ and 2 points respectively to the lowest prices of the year on large turnovers. German bank issues, loans of various cities and some industrials suffered from the selling movement, many resting on new bottoms at the finish. Losses ranged from 1 to 6 points. News of an attempted revolution in Chile which the new government reported was frustrated, depressed obligations of the South American republic, losses ranging from one to 2½ points in a half dozen issues.

Weakness of stocks caused some selling of bonds with stock privilege features. The 4½ per cent convertible of the International Telephone and Telegraph company duplicated the performance of the stock by sinking to a new 1930 low, on a 2-point drop.

The best demand in the domestic list was for high grade and second grade railroad issues and many reached new 1930 highs some irregularity developed in the utility and domestic groups and both yielded some ground as reflected in the averages.

U. S. governments were steady.

New York, Sept. 22. (AP)—Frederick B. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Co., who is visiting the company's agencies in the southern and southwestern district, said that he had noted a "decided improvement in the mental attitude of merchants" everywhere, and that "business has taken a definite turn upward."

Sale of a New York stock exchange membership at $300,000 has been arranged. The price is $1,000 lower than the previous sale announced last week and marked a decline of $100,000 from late in July, when a seat was sold for $400,000.

Offering is expected this week of an issue of $7,000,000 Tennessee Public Service Co., first and refunding 5 per cent bonds, priced at 96½.

Officials of the Republic Steel Corp., report that the first three weeks of September were 17 per cent ahead of the like period in August. The improvement represents sales of trip, sheets, electric welded pipe and other products. Alloy steel orders are holding the gains which appeared last month. Sheet mill operations will be increased during the week.

RADIO

New York, Sept. 22. (AP)—The award of the annual gold medal of the veterans wireless operators' association is to be put on the air by the National Broadcasting company tomorrow evening.

The program, originating at the Radio World's Fair, will be transmitted by WEAF and stations from 7 to 7:30 p. m. (EST). The medal, given each year to the radio operator credited with an outstanding accomplishment at the key, goes this time to Frank N. Davidson, chief operator of the ill-fated Tahiti, which foundered in the south seas on August 11.

At the time the award is made Davidson will be nearing Pago Pago, American Samoa, aboard the Ventura, which went to the rescue of the Tahiti. Davidson's two assistants and the three operators of the Ventura are to be awarded scrolls of honor.

A number of George M. Cohan's song successes are to be presented in the Radio Playhouse, Columbia Broadcasting system, at 9:15 p. m. (EST). Included will be "Yankee Doodle Boy" and "Over There."

A new weekly radio book review period, with Alexander Woolcott at the microphone, is to start on WABC and stations at 6:45 p. m. (EST).

Both NBC and CBS will present features on their afternoon and evening schedules from the Radio Show in New York. Such programs are put on in a crystal studio before a visible audience.

Police Searching For Gary Banker; Kidnaping Thought

East Chicago, Ind., Sept. (AP)—Police of Illinois and Indiana tonight were searching for H. K. Groves, president of the American State Bank of East Chicago, and treasurer of Lake county, Indiana, in the belief that he has been kidnaped. Groves disappeared yesterday and directors of the bank ordered the institution closed to prevent a run.

Groves left his home early yesterday to attend a conference and has not been seen since. He was known to have been in the habit of carrying large sums of money, but whether he had a great deal with him yesterday could not be learned.

CURB SHARES IN DOWNFALL

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Sept. 22. (AP)—The curb shared in the general weakness of security and commodity markets today and some broad declines appeared in active leading stocks. Total sales of about 550,000 shares were among the largest of the summer.

Utilities, specialties and industrials met considerable pressure and broke easily through their previous resistance points. Electric Bond & Share, for example, dropped to 71¾, little more than a point above its year's low, but closed at 72 3-8, a net loss of 4 7-8.

Technicolor, off about 5 points. Ford of England, down 2, and Walgreen, which broke 3 points, were other weak spots. American Aluminum lost 17½ on a fairly large turnover, while Great Atlantic & Pacific, an inactive, tumbled 9 on a few sales.

Oils received fair support and losses in the group were largely fractional.

Investment company shares also gave ground moderately. Insull Utility Investments, Goldman Sachs Trading and National Investors each sagged a point. United Founders closed 3-8 lower.

Politics Play No Part In Enforcing Dry Laws--Woodcock

Washington, Sept. (AP)—Confident that politics plays no part in the new prohibition enforcement machine, Prohibition Director Woodcock today outlined a program to "gain further public respect" for his force and to assure punishment of the murderers of dry law agents.

Mr. Woodcock insisted there was no political influence operating in the new dry regime when he was asked about charges made by Maurice Campbell, former dry administrator for New York, in recent articles. He expressed confidence, too, that the politicians were not bothering his workers.

But what worries the busy dry law chieftain is the increasing number of casualties among his men, augmented yesterday by the killing of an agent during a raid on an Elizabeth, N. J., brewery.

"First," he emphasized, "I hope by administering the law decently and honestly to gain further public respect for it and its enforcers. Secondly, I ask the states to prosecute murderers vigorously."

Cattle 15,

Bobby Jones Takes Lead in Qualifying Rounds

COLLEGE YOUTH COMES SECOND

Defending Champ Has Bad Day; Hole in One Features Play

BY ALAN GOULD,
(Ass'd Press Sports Editor)

Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 22 (AP)—Golfing fireworks exploded all over these historic premises today as the one and only Bobby Jones skyrocketed into the lead for the first 18 holes of the two-day 36-hole qualifying test for the United States amateur championship.

The great Georgian, blazing the way, as he began his last battle for a clean sweep of all the major honors of 1930, shot a brilliant 36-33—69, one under par and one stroke in front of his nearest two rivals—19-year-old Sidney Noyes, Jr., of New York, a Yale freshman, and Dr. Oscar F. Willing, 40-year old dentist from Portland, Ore.

Noyes Sets Pace

Noyes finished the last nine holes in 32, two under par, to post the first par 70 of the day and set the pace until he was overhauled by Jones. Dr. Willing, among the late finishers, posted his fine 37-33—70 after barely missing a 70-foot putt that would have given him a tie with Jones.

Fourth place went to another youngster, George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, the national intercollegiate champion, who scored 35-36—71 during the first day's struggle that was featured otherwise by the virtual collapse of the defending champion, Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston of St. Paul, and a hole in one on the 215-yard 17th by Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., of New York, Metropolitan titleholder.

Johnston, his putting touch so completely gone that he took 41 strokes on the greens and as many as four on a single green, finished with 43-40—83 and faced the necessity of cutting ten strokes off this score if he is to qualify in defense of the crown he won at Pebble Beach last year.

The records fail to reveal any previous instances of a defending title holder not qualifying. Johnston was confident, even after his miserable showing today, that he would stage a comeback, even if he had to shave it as close as Jerome D. Travers did in being forced into a play off to qualify in 1913. Despite his close call, Travers went on to win the crown again that year.

Johnston, as he steadily lost ground and strokes, presented the extraordinary picture of a champion being foresaken almost entirely by his gallery and so woefully weak on the greens that he needed at least three putts to get down on six of them. "Jimmy" was almost as unsteady off the tees and before he was through had been been in more traps and hazards than he usually finds in a half dozen rounds of golf.

McCarthy's hole in one was the first ace recalled by officials since Robert A. Gardner achieved it in the qualifying play of the 1915 tournament, which the Chicago star and former Yale pole vaulter won. McCarthy used a spoon and his tee shot landed a few feet from the cup, just trickling in. It helped the New Yorker score a 78 and might furnish the margin by which he could qualify tomorrow.

Some Favorites Slow Up

Johnston, though on the extreme outer edge of those having any chance to break into the qualifying list of 32 for the match play beginning Wednesday, was not alone among the favorites who blew themselves to high, wide and dangerous totals for the first round. Jess Sweetser, of New York, with an 81; Cyril Tolley, the former British champion, with an 82, and Roland MacKenzie of Wilmington, Del., with 83, put their chances in extreme jeopardy. MacKenzie was nowhere near his great practice form.

Probably no better than a 36-hole total of 157 and possibly no better than 156 will qualify, with exactly 40 scores of 78 or better for today's competition.

Although the low scoring sensation of the day was the homecoming 32 of young Noyes, the best golf was unquestionably played by the master of them all, Bobby Jones. The great Georgian was never in serious trouble. He was in traps only twice and as many time sin the rough.

"Calamity Jane," his famous putter, was at her best. Bobby sank a 24-footer on the 10th and a 12-footer on the 13th for birdies and on at least five other holes a margin of inches separated his ball from the cup as he rolled 'em dead from any and all angles. He made par on this treacherous, 6565—yard layout look easy and might easily have posted a 64 or 65 with a few "breaks."

Noyes was deadly with his spade mashie and putter, as well as being extremely long off the tees. Out in 38, he burned up the course coming back. He holed a 15-footer for deuce at the 13th and stuck a spade shot 2 feet from the cup for a birdie three on the 15th. He needed another birdie 3 for his 70 at the home hole and got it by firing a No. 2 iron shot to 10 feet of the cup and holing the putt.

SHORT SPORT SHOTS

Escanaba football fans who witnessed Saturday's game here and still talking about why and how Escanaba defeated the Manistique team, 7-6. The consensus of opinion seems to be that the smoother and more powerful team lost but that the smarter team won. At any rate it was a case where one team won because they took better advantage of the 'breaks' than their opponents. They were fortunate, also, in receiving more than their share of the breaks of the game.

—o—

Walter Snyder's spectacular tackle of Eckdahl on the 3-yard line after the Manistique back had reeled off 81 yards and the Escanaba defense which followed that rally is given credit by many fans for the victory. Other fans credit the remarkable blocking of 'Babe' Baillargeon when Murray Burns intercepted a pass in the second period for victory. There is little doubt that these two combinations were vital factors in the Eskymos' lone point win.

—o—

Gladstone, idle last week, had many representatives at the grid opener here but they learned little in regard to Escanaba formations, at least. Only three or four plays were used—all of them straight football formations.

—o—

Iron Mountain's defeat at Iron River was a surprise to fans in this territory who believed the Mountaineers had a powerful organization this year. It appears now that the Thunemen's defeat doesn't mean that they are weak but on the contrary—that Iron River is exceptionally strong. Their 14-0 defeat over Norway, conceded to be a good team, plus their victory over Iron Mountain, is proof of that.

—o—

Escanaba football fans are greatly interested in what Menominee is doing in each of their games. Many calls were received at the Press office Saturday in regard to the Menominee-West Green Bay game which was won by Menominee, 6-0.

—o—

And the Maroons' victory indicates that Menominee has another powerful outfit. West Green Bay has many of last year's veterans back in the fold. The Eskymos play at Menominee this fall.

—o—

St. Joseph lost to Norway but Coach Brunelle said after returning to Escanaba that his team gave an excellent account of themselves and he is satisfied they will develop into a first class outfit. Next Saturday they meet Escanaba in the annual city-title tilt.

—o—

All of which has little to do with the fact that the St. Louis Cardinals have little to worry about in the National league baseball race—but will probably have plenty to worry about when they meet Connie Mack's Athletics in the World Series.

Cardinals Appear In Better Position

(By The Associated Press)

The hopes of the Chicago Cubs to retain the National league pennant dwindled today as the Cardinals won again and maintained their advantage of two and one-half games. Chicago also won, but only have four games to play while the Cardinals have five more on their schedule.

The standing, with games won, lost, percentage games behind leader and games to play:

Fort Worth Wins Southern Pennant

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 22 (AP)—Fort Worth won the baseball championship of the south today, defeating Memphis 13 to 6 for the Texans' fourth win in five games in the eleventh annual Dixie series between pennant winners in the Texas league and Southern association.

Fort Worth won the first three games of the proposed seven game series and dropped the fourth yesterday to the Chicks.

CARDS NEARING NATIONAL TITLE

Victory Over Phillies Sends St. Louis Close to Crown

Philadelphia, Sept. 22 (AP)—Pounding the ball to every corner of the park, the St. Louis Cardinals moved a little nearer the National league pennant today with a 15 to 7 victory over Philadelphia. The victory still left the Cards out in front by two and one-half games as the Cubs also won.

Beginning a heavy barrage in the second inning, the Cards kept at the task until they had piled up nineteen hits, including eight doubles. Manusco collected four hits, while Bottomley and Watkins connected for three each. Douthby, Collard and Hansen proved easy for the pennant bound Cards while Phillips, who [illegible] last two innings, was the only pitcher able to check the wild onslaught.

St. Louis started its scoring rampage in the second inning, counting four times in each of the second and third innings, adding two more in the fourth and three in the fifth. The final two runs crossed the plate in the seventh inning.

After holding the Phillies to four hits in six innings, Sylvester Johnson weakened a trifle in the seventh and eighth as the Phils gathered in five runs. The Cardinals lead was never seriously threatened, but Herman Bell pitched the ninth and held the Phillies in check.

Harold Beaton Hurt In Grid Scrimmage

Harold Beaton, center on the Marquette University varsity squad, is in St. Joseph's hospital, Milwaukee, suffering from injuries to his left arm received in scrimmage. The injury which is above the elbow, will keep him in the hospital for a week or possibly ten days, according to word received here Monday. Harold, son of Tom Beaton, Sr., is a third year student at Marquette, and has just started his first year at law school. This is his second year on the varsity.

Parsaca May Be Out Of Detroit Lineup

Detroit, Sept. 22 (AP)—Rocky Parsaca of Grand Rapids, hailed by many as the successor to Lloyd Brazil on this year's University of Detroit football squad, probably will not be in the lineup when the Titans take the field against Adrian college Friday night.

An infected right foot kept Parsaca out of heavy practice today, although he limped around the practice field for a time, and after he had been turned over to the casulty squad for examination, it was said his appearance in the line-up Friday night would be brief, if he plays at all.

Football Prospects at Harvard Best in Years

BY BILL KING,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 22, (AP)—Although Harvard's flow of great sophomore athletic material has ceased for the time being football prospects have seldom been brighter here at the stadium.

Graduation losses never fell so easily on a Crimson team, and Head Coach Arnold Horween and his aides had plenty of time during the spring training period to test and season many promising candidates who would probably have been overlooked in the early fall rush.

As a nucleus for his 1930 varsity squad Horween has 21 of last year's 37 players, including 14 lettermen and five of the starting eleven against Yale.

Needs Some Ends.

These statistics, however, are not quite so impressive as they appear, for Harvard has troublesome tackle problems and could use at least twice as many experienced ends as Horween now has at his his disposal.

If he can find competent replacements for the missing "Red" Barrett and Bill Ticknor, tackles of last year, and Dick O'Connell and Jim Douglas, who flanked them on the wings, Harvard will have a strong line, for Captain Ben Ticknor, all-American snapper-back, and his sturdy guardsmen, John Traner and George Talbot, promise to have another great season.

This center trio, which bruised and battered every set of rivals last year, is again supported by an impressive list of substitutes, such as Henry Gildea, Charley Richards and Joe Cunningham, all first class pivotmen. Among the spare guards are valiants like Henry Myerson, Bill Ginman, Bill Brooks and Jim Esterly.

Vic Harding, capable forward pass receiver, has recovered from the dangerous injury he suffered in the Yale game and should gain one of the end posts without great difficulty. Bob Ogden and big Moushegian, who saw plenty of service last season, will probably battle for the other wing. The others in the end squad to exhibit promise are Larry Lovett and Dick Werner, freshmen last season, and Jim Baldwin, now back in the good graces of Dean Hanford.

The outstanding tackle candidates are Bob Faxon, George Kuehn, Graydon Upton, all first-string subs in 1929, and the now eligible and powerful "Red" Finlayson. It is almost a certainty that two of this foursome will prove to be as capable as either of last year's regulars before the season is far advanced.

Berry Wood Back.

Horween's greatest strength is behind the line, for he has two fine backfield combinations ready for action. The great Barry Wood, described by no less an authority than Knute Rockne as "the greatest forward passer in football," is the keyman for the "A" machine that includes such stars as Eddie Mays and Charlie Devers, halfbacks, and Bernie White at fullback.

The 'B" string is composed of Roger Gleason as quarterback, Arthur Huguley and Jack Chickard halfbacks and Joe Schereschewski, probably the longest name in Harvard's football history, as fullback. If any of this double quartet weaken, Horween has only to beckon and Sam Batchelder, Eugen Record, Paul Fullman, Dana Greeley, Ralph Coburn or Jim Leonard, will rush out for relief work.

Harvard will play an eight-game schedule as follows: Oct. 4, Vermont; 11, Springfield; 18, Army; 25, Darthmouth; Nov. 1, William and Mary; 8, Michigan; 15, Holy Cross; 22, Yale at New Haven.

IRONWOOD HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Rangers Push Practices to Get in Shape for Grid Opener

The Escanaba Rangers football team began their last weet of training in preparation for their game with Ironwood here next Sunday with a scrimmage session at the city park last evening. Two sessions are planned for today, one at five o'clock and another at six o'clock in an effort to drill the squad with plays and formations to be used against Ironwood.

Members of the local squad went to Iron Mountain Sunday to see Ironwood open their season against Iron Mountain and came back to Escanaba highly impressed with the caliber of the Ironwood team. They declared that Zambrovitz and Strand, two of the men who starred here with the Ironwood team last year, look even better this fall and that Zambrovitz' punting against Iron Mountain was one of the features of the game.

Coach Thompson has not announced yet who he will start in the Ironwood game but it is probable that such stars as Christensen, the Pariseau brothers, Johnny Vandenboom, Leo Brunelle, Nick Bink, DeMars, Hank Giroux and others will be in action against Ironwood.

The new equipment is expected to be used for the first time against Ironwood here next Sunday. The equipment is scarlet red from top to toe, including head gears and pants.

Wells Beats Rock In Baseball Final

Wells defeated Rock in a wild hitting game at Wells Sunday to climax the baseball season, 15-4. Lemke was in fine form and held the Tri-County league champs to 4 hits while his teammates were pounding Rock twirlers for a total of 16.

Hamacher, the star Rock pitcher, was badly off-form against Wells and was pounded hard until the third inning when he was relieved by Rabideau who also could not stop the Wells attack.

Lemke failed to allow a hit until the sixth inning but Rock collected four in this frame to account for their four runs. They failed to connect safely thereafter.

The batteries were: Rock, Hamacher, Rabideau and Menier; Wells, Lemke and Couillard.

Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, former Western women's champion, Virginia Van Wie, Chicago; Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt, Dallas, and Mrs. Stewart Hanley, of Detroit, were the high ranking favorites.

Green Bay, Wis.—After a colorful ceremony at which the Packers' pennant, won in the National Professional Football League last year, was raised and league officials spoke, Green Bay got off to a flying start for the 1930 season by defeating the Chicago Cardinals, 14 to 0. The crowd was estimated at 8,000 persons.

The Cardinals never really threatened to score, although they gained some ground with double and triple passes in the first quarter. However, by the second period the Packers had solved these plays and smeared them efficiently for the rest of the game, keeping the ball around mid-field or in Chicago territory practically all the time.

The first touchdown was made early in the second quarter. Starting on their own 30-yard line, where Molenda had intercepted a pass, Johnnie Blood, Verne Lewellen and Bo Molenda marched down the field to the Cardinals' 13-yard line, where Lewellen went around end for a score. Red Dunn added the extra point with a place kick.

The second counter came in the third quarter when Arnie Herber, former Green Bay high school star, sailed a 30-yard pass to Lavvie Dilweg, who ambled the remaining 20 yards to the goal line. Molenda place kicked the extra point.

The Cardinals made eight first downs while the Packers made 10.

The Chicoga Bears play here next Sunday.

BOXING

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—Garfield Johnson, 178, Buffalo negro light heavyweight, was awarded a technical knockout over Mike McTigue, 180, former world's champion in the class, in the fourth round of a ten-round bout here tonight. McTigue failed to land a blow and the action was taken to save him needless punishment.

Rhiel Makes Triple Play Unassisted

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 22. (AP)—Bill Rhiel, Portland second baseman, yesterday made the fifth unassisted triple play in Pacific Coast League history.

With the bases full in the second Seattle-Portland game, Rhiel caught Taylor's liner with a leaping catch to retire the Indian batter, touched second to put out Hansen and Beat Ellsworth back to first to retire him. The Indians were two runs behind in the inning—the fifth—and all the men on the bases started to run when Taylor cracked the ball, believing it would be a safe hit.

CUBS STILL IN PENNANT RACE

Chicago Has Four Games to Eat Up 2½ Game Lead

Boston, Sept. 22 (AP)—Retaining their mathematical chance to win the National League pennant race, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Braves 6 to 2 in the final game of the season at Boston today. The victory still left the Cubs trailing the Cardinals by two and one-half games with four games to play—all with Cincinnati at Chicago.

In turning back the Braves, Guy Bush turned in a brilliant exhibition of hurling, holding Boston to six hits, while the Cubs were pounding Socks Seibold, Eddie Brandt and Bruce Cunningham for 12 blows. Included in the collection of hits was Hack Wilson's fifty-third home run of the season, delivered in the first inning with one teammate on base.

Wilson also contributed one of the fielding features of the game, making a sensational running catch of Richbourg's liner. The entire Boston infield also performed brilliantly.

The Cubs left tonight for Chicago, where they open their final series with the Cincinnati Reds on Thursday.

BIG BUS DITCHED

A big bus owned by Flanigan Bros., of Marquette, was ditched on M28, near the county garage, just outside of Munising last Saturday night while returning from Newberry with the members of the Marquette football team. Just as the bus passed another car, coming towrads Munising, the bus lights were extinguished and the driver drove into the soft earth alongside of the road. The bus, which weighs about eight tons, remained along side the highway until Sunday afternoon before it could be lifted upon the road, an operation which required chain blocks from the papermill. No one was injured in the accident, and the only damage done to the bus was to the gas line. But righting the car upon the road was an expensive operation.

DODGE SPEAKS TO KIWANIANS

All "A" Students of Two High Schools Are Club's Guests

Friendship, and not money, is the biggest thing in this life, according to Harry E. Dodge, well known Y. M. C. A. worker and lecturer, who advised the all "A" students of the two high schools, who were guests of the Kiwanis club at a dinner meeting last night, to get all the friends they can and keep them.

Mr. Dodge gave a highly interesting and inspiring talk on the topic of "Putting the K in Kiwanis," defining the ideals and purposes of the club in a pleasing manner A charter member of the Rotary club of Fall River, Mass., he exhibited in his talk a keen insight of the objectives of this type of service organization.

"There are three strange things about money," Mr. Dodge pointed out. "You cannot take it with you when you die; you cannot really buy happiness with it; and when is comes down to the final analysis the only money you save is that which you spend in rightful service to others."

Urging the boys and girls to acquire as many friends as possible, Mr. Dodge declared that they are the greatest assets one can have. The time to get friends is when one is young, he pointed out, for in later years one acquires only acquaintances.

Kiwanis represents the spirit of youth, Mr. Dodge said, and warned that when men or women lose the "boy or girl in them," they have passed beyond the stage of real living.

In closing his address, he took time to pay a glowing tribute to that type of athletics and coaches that turns out real men, rather than star athletes. Through athletic competition can be developed a spirit of sportsmanship and fair play which will place business dealings on a higher plane, one of the primary purposes of Kiwanis, he said.

The honor students of Escanaba high school and St. Joseph high school are: Beatrice Ahlquist, Marguerite Eis, Jane Glavin, Alfa Knutson, Elizabeth Maigetter, Willard Norby, Myrtle Roberge, Elizabeth Taylor, Irene Thompson, Woodrow Wilson, Carl Ahlin, Justa Erickson, Anna Hogman, Helga Jacobson, Katherine Matthews, Astrid Olson, Berntine Sattem, Lucille Schram, Ardith Shaw, Jane Anderson, Kathryn Glavin, Helen Johnson; and Clyde Hirn, Grant Larson, Kathleen Todd and Evelyn Stockemer.

H. B. Markham Speaks at Rotary Meeting

H. B. Markham, general manager for the Dewey Furnace company of Escanaba, delivered a most interesting address before members of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday on the history of artificial heat for homes. The address carried a mass of interesting information that was pleasingly presented by the speaker and made yesterday's program take rank as one of the best of the year.

Mr. Markham told members of the club that chimneys were first built into homes in the sixteenth century, although the Romans perfected a form of home heating that in reality constituted the first known furnaces. Early Romans dug a pit on the windward side of their homes and heat from a fire built in the pit was carried by tunnels under the stone floors and in this manner some measure of artificial heat was provided for the interior.

Mr. Markham told of tremendous strides made in home heating appliances in recent years and also reviewed briefly the history of the Escanaba company whose furnaces are now being installed in every section of the upper peninsula.
